LEON F. WILLIS
Leon F. Willis, Sr., 55, retired carpenter, died Thursday. He was a member of the Methodist Church and a Mason.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Irma Willis; a daughter, Mrs. Jimmie Carpenter of Independence, Mo.; two sons, Johnny of Gladstone, Mo., and Leon F. Willis Jr. of San Diego; two brothers, Monroe of Hope and Rufus Willis of Plainview, Texas; four sisters, Mrs. Ollie Evans, Mrs. Lillian Hickerson and Mrs. Herman Worthing, all of Hope and Mrs. Frances Carlton of Los Angeles.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at Holly Grove Methodist Church by the Rev. Everett Vinson. Burial will be in Holly Grove Cemetery by Herndon Funeral Home. Masons will be in charge at the graveside.

WAYNESBORO, Pa. (AP) — Paul M. Yost, 66, who covered the U.S. Supreme Court for The Associated Press for almost a quarter of a century, was found dead Thursday in the garage of his home. Yost joined The AP at Philadelphia in 1929, transferring to the Washington bureau in 1937.

CHICAGO (AP) — Arthur S. Genet, 58, president and chief executive officer of Brink's Inc., an armored express company, died Thursday. He was president of The Greyhound Corp. from 1956 to 1958 and joined Brink's as president in 1959.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Walter L. Mitchell, 53, president of the International Chemical Workers Union, AFL-CIO, since 1956, collapsed and died Thursday night while preparing to attend the union's convention banquet. Mitchell had been elected to a new term as head of the 110,000-member union on Wednesday.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Red Foley, 58, country and Western singing star whose recording of "Peace in the Valley" was the first religious song to sell a million copies, was found dead in his motel room Thursday night. Doctors said death apparently was due to natural causes. Born Clyde Julian Foley, he rose to fame in the late 1940s with his recording of "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy."

Hart Comes to Defense of Fortas

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said today a close examination of Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas' record in obscenity cases "clearly refutes the charge he favors smut."

"Efforts to brand Justice Fortas as the purveyor of dirty movies are as obscene and distasteful as the movies themselves," Hart said.

He is leading the fight in the Senate for confirmation of President Johnson's nomination of Fortas to succeed retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren.

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, Hart said that in the eyes of the public "the Senate is being sold to an even greater extent than Justice Fortas" by the obscenity issue raised by some opponents of the nomination.

He added this comment: "Some of the public may have achieved the erroneous impression that Justice Fortas has been an approving viewer of dirty films, but certainly all of the public has the more accurate impression that United States senators, however righteously disapproving, have been slipping in to innumerable private showings of dirty films."

This was a reference to showings for senators of films involved in Supreme Court decisions on obscenity cases, including strip tease movies that were ruled hard-core pornography by a California jury. Another film, involved in a New York case, shows various sex acts as well as nudity.

Before the Senate Judiciary Committee approved Fortas' nomination Tuesday by an 11-6 vote, some of its members had viewed the films. Other senators not on the committee, as well as staff aides of additional senators, also have attended showings.

The nomination, said the pull back of Fortas' name "would save a lot of discussion and a lot of headlines."

But the Illinois senator did not say he thought the President should withdraw the nomination and made it clear he does not expect that he will.

Hart's remarks were his second in as many days in support of the nomination, which is up for formal debate next week.

Judge Protects Slots From Destruction

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Upholding an order prohibiting police from destroying slot machines discovered here, Circuit Court Judge Harry Crumpler leveled a terse blast warning against political intervention in the case.

Newsmen interpreted the remark as a shot at Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. In Harrison Thursday night, Rockefeller fired back.

Crumpler's remark was: "I would like to add that this court will not condone, allow or permit political intervention in this case or any other case whatsoever."

When newsmen asked the judge to elaborate, he said, "It would be below the ethics and dignity of the court to elaborate."

Rockefeller flew to El Dorado last week when the raid was announced and said, "This is the kind of law enforcement we like to see."

Attorneys for the defendant said the raid was for political purposes and one wondered aloud if Rockefeller would raid the county fair "which will have coin-operated machines actually working."

At a political rally in Harrison, Rockefeller noted Crumpler had given permanency to the injunction prohibiting police from confiscating or destroying the 404 machines.

"This was against police where a fearless judge was afraid of running the risk of taking property," Rockefeller said.

Crumpler said the property couldn't be destroyed until it was determined that it was illegal for the defendant to have the slot machines and that police were using a valid warrant when they seized the devices.

Judge in the Sirhan Case Is Veteran

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, accused of killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, will be tried before Judge Herbert V. Walker, who has heard more criminal cases than any other jurist in Los Angeles County. He once ruled the death penalty constitutional.

Walker was named presiding judge Thursday at the trial due to start Nov. 1.

He handed down the death penalty to Caryl Chessman, who died in the gas chamber in 1960 after a 12-year legal battle. Chessman, 38 at the time of his death, was a convicted sex criminal.

The bushy-browed judge, at 69, is dean of the Los Angeles criminal judges. He was appointed to the bench in 1953 by Gov. Earl Warren, now U.S. chief justice.

"His standards of fairness and justice have been in the highest traditions of judicial responsibility," the Criminal Courts Bar Association said of Walker in 1964.

In 1967 he granted a 12-day hearing to the American Civil Liberties Union, which contended the death penalty constitutes cruel and unusual punishment.

Experts in crime and punishment testified. Walker held that the death penalty was constitutional. Gerald Gottleib, one of the ACLU's lawyers, said Judge Walker's role in the hearing "will constitute a lasting contribution to American law."

A native of San Francisco, Walker was graduated from the University of Southern California Law School in 1928. He was a deputy state corporation commissioner the next 15 years and in 1943 was named assistant district attorney.

Dump Vehicle Being Tested

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The city of Little Rock is testing a 60,000-pound vehicle which compacts garbage, trash, logs, cars and most other things that end up in the dump.

The vehicle is a Hyster Landfill Compactor, which is 31 feet wide and about nine feet long. It has a 165-horsepower motor. The machine flattens things, almost anything that gets in its path.

Two Arkansans Die in Wreck

LINCOLN, ILL. (AP) — Two Arkansans were among four men killed in a car-truck collision near here Thursday.

State Police identified the victims as Donald R. Brent, 18, of Pine Bluff, Ark.; Clarence Griffin, 16, of Dermott, Ark.; James W. Jackson, 20, and Tobias Williams Jr., 19, both of Milwaukee.

Another Big Airliner Is Hijacked

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An Eastern Air Lines jetliner with 39 persons aboard was hijacked to Havana today while en route from San Juan to Miami.

Paul Boatman, area administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, said the Boeing 720 was over Nassau, the Bahamas, when it suddenly veered southwest at 9:12 a.m. EDT.

"There was no radio contact from the pilot," said Boatman. "Communications suddenly halted and the plane headed for Cuba."

Boatman said authorities at Havana's Jose Marti Airport said the hijacked craft touched down at 9:45 a.m.

Boatman said the flight, EAL 950, carried 32 passengers and a crew of seven. He identified the pilot as "Slim" Babbitt.

A spokesman for Eastern in San Juan said the flight departed at 6 a.m. He said the plane was taking the "Yankee Route" to Miami.

No Rainfall Seen for Football Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No rainfall and mild temperatures are the forecast for Arkansas through Saturday, promising perfect weekend football weather.

A weak high pressure ridge across Arkansas is keeping moisture out of the state. However, a trough over western Texas is causing an increase of warmer air and moisture will slowly increase.

The platform said. On other matters, the platform says that:

—Highway bonds should not be sold "except when absolutely necessary to avoid the loss of federal matching funds and then only when interest rates are acceptable."

—Cities and counties should be granted enabling legislation so voters can broaden the base of their tax support for local government.

—Strong law enforcement, impartial to race, creed or color but intolerant of rioting and civil disobedience, is needed.

The platform endorses registering voters with a designation of their party affiliation as the best method of preserving the integrity of primary elections.

The platform adoption came with many of the items demanded by the reform wing of the party, just as rules changes they sought were made Thursday.

The changes were carried out without a sign of strife in the face of earlier indications that factional fighting would be fierce.

The apparent determination to avoid an open fight maintained the unity theme sounded in the keynote speech as the convention opened Thursday.

In today's session, U.S. Rep. David Pryor predicted victory for Democrats.

Pryor pushed strongly for the re-election of Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., saying "we are not going to stop short of giving you... the greatest victory of your political career."

The congressman said that Marion H. Crank, the party's gubernatorial nominee, was a man "who knows more about the working and practices of state government than any living Arkansan."

He said the candidates "will see the greatest team effort behind you this fall that this state has ever seen."

Ted Boswell, the reform-minded attorney who ran third in the gubernatorial primary, became one of the few speakers to mention the party's presidential nominee, Hubert H. Humphrey, during the convention.

Boswell appeared to espouse a constitutional convention, asking Democrats to back it in the future.

GETTING THE FEELING before going on her South African tour, Australian singer Lana Cantrell visited one of New York City's Afro-American shops. Here, she models an African robe and, to complete the picture, holds a spear and stands barefoot.

party platform. He referred to Humphrey as "a great Democrat who can lead this nation and will lead this nation."

His remark drew applause, although not as great as had been accorded names of state political figures.

The adoption of the revised rules came without a dissenting vote since the permanent chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, did not ask for "Nay" votes.

The new rules did not go as far as some of the "progressives" had desired but state Rep. Joe Hamilton of Harrison said, "It's a step in the right direction."

Ted Boswell, who ran third in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, said he was pleased to see reference to segregation eliminated from the rules. However, Boswell declined to comment on other rule changes until he had an opportunity to read them.

Boswell said he preferred to see delegates to the national convention elected by the people. In the past, the Democratic State Committee chose the delegates, but the revised rules call for the committee to select only 40 per cent of the delegates in the future.

Red Foley, Famed Singer, Is Found Dead

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Red Foley, who rose to fame in the late 1940s with his recording of "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy," was found dead in his motel room Thursday night. He was 58.

He apparently died of natural causes as he was getting ready for bed some 8 to 12 hours before his body was found. Dr. Gordon Franke, Allen County coroner said. An autopsy was scheduled today.

Franke said Foley was fully clothed and on his back on the bed when found by the motel manager who had been summoned by a maid after she entered the room.

Dueling Pistols Are Stolen

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Fifteen dueling pistols were reported stolen Wednesday from the home of Paul Lashley of St. Louis.

The guns were antiques from the 17th and 18th century and were worth more than $7,000, Lashley said. Also missing was $500 from a second floor bedroom desk.

Foley, whose gospel song "Peace in the Valley" was the first religious record to sell over a million copies, had given two performances in Fort Wayne Wednesday evening.

Clyde Julian Foley was born on a 24-acre farm near Berea, Ky. He began his professional singing career in 1931 at the age of 21.

Named the top folk artist in the country in 1950, he was voted into the country music Hall of Fame last year—becoming one of half a dozen living artists to hold the honor.

His first songs were the tragic ballads—"The Death of Floyd Collins" and "The Sinking of the Titanic"—but his name grew with the toe-tapping, rag-popping story of a singing shoe shine boy in a Chattanooga railroad station.

Foley, a baritone, got his first guitar lesson from his father and credited "pop" with his success in the music field.

He prepared for his "coming out" at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville in 1946 by doing shows with Gene Autry on the National Barn Dance and by cutting a record for Sears & Roebuck on the Conqueror label.

"I guess I never was more scared than I was the night I replaced Roy Acuff on the network part of the Opry," he related years later.

The father of four daughters, he had lived in Nashville with his third wife, Sally, since he returned to the Tennessee city in 1963 following a brief stint in Hollywood as the star of a television series, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

Both his first and second marriages ended in death. The first wife, Pauline, died during the birth of his first daughter, Betty. His second wife, Iva, died unexpectedly in 1951.

His other daughters are Shirley, Julie and Jennie. Shirley is married to actor-singer Pat Boone.

After Foley left the Grand Ole Opry, he was featured singer on the "Clark Jubilee," a television production he founded in Springfield, Mo.

Kidnap Victim Rescued by the FBI

By F. RICHARD CICCONE Associated Press Writer OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) —

FBI agents recovered an unharmed today a 7-year-old boy who was kidnapped Wednesday as he alighted from a school bus and was held for $125,000 ransom.

Three persons—two men and a woman—were arrested in connection with the kidnapping.

The Chicago office of the FBI said the boy, Hillard Willis Marks, son of the owner of a Chicago manufacturing firm, was found in a home on Chicago's far South side.

The ransom was not paid, and the boy was not harmed, an FBI spokesman said.

Those arrested were identified as Daniel C. Pieler, 30, unemployed, of Chicago; Robert S. Marin, 24, a machinist living on Chicago's South Side, and Marin's wife, Ethel Marie, 26.

They were not immediately charged. FBI spokesmen said they would be turned over to local authorities for prosecution.

News of the kidnapping had been withheld since Wednesday at the request of the parents, William E. Marks, and his wife, Marylou.

The boy had just gotten off the school bus Wednesday in this rolling, wooded suburb west of Chicago when a late-model car drove up little more than a block from his home.

Two persons, variously described as two women or a man and a woman, ordered him to get into the car. Schoolmates who witnessed the exchange from the nearby bus told investigators the boy rebelled at the and safety requirements.

Arkansas boaters are blessed with more than their fair share of lakes and waterways and with the forth coming opening of the Arkansas River for navigation the facilities for the water sports enthusiast will be even further expanded.

The federal and state agencies having the responsibility for enforcement of boating laws are making all effort possible to keep the pleasure in boating, by providing and emphasizing public education in safe boating practices to keep down boating accidents.

Since public education is one of the cornerstones, the U.S.C.G. Auxiliary enjoys a high degree of recognition, respect and support from its parent organization, the U.S.C.G., as well as the U.S. Corps of Engineers, Arkansas Game & Fish Commission and all other agencies concerned with water safety.

Membership in the U.S.C.G. Auxiliary requires that a person be at least 17 years of age, own at least 25 per cent in a motor boat 14' long or over, a sailboat 16' long or over, an amateur radio station, or an airplane. The initial phase of becoming a member is the successful completion of a basic qualification course which provides minimal training in seamanship, piloting, communications, first aid, internal combustion engines, and history organization of the auxiliary.

There are provisions for membership by other special qualifications, subject to the approval of the Auxiliary's director.

State Leaders Shun the Nat'l Ticket

Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — There are increasing signs that the Democratic party leaders in Arkansas don't want to appear closely allied to the party's presidential ticket.

This has given rise to some questions, but leading party figures so far have had little say in the way of answers. They do not seem determined to ignore the Humphrey-Muskie ticket permanently, but are waiting to see whether it might harm the party in Arkansas to do so.

Within the past week additional indications of at least a temporary separatism have become apparent.

The indications are of varied weight, but one of the most significant involves the impending visit of the party's nominee for vice president, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

The nominee is due in Little Rock Saturday and will stop at the presidential ticket's state headquarters, then make a speech.

To be notably occupied elsewhere is the party nominee for governor, Marion H. Crank of Foreman, who will be conferring with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, the Republican nominee, on plans for their debate, to be televised.

A Crank aide, queried earlier this week about Crank's involvement elsewhere while Muskie is in town, said, "Well, we've got to carry on our campaign, and this debate is an important part of it. We have word also that there is a possibility the senator may have to cancel his visit."

As of today, there was no word that Muskie would cancel.

Muskie visited Hot Springs for a few hours earlier this month and met with a number of Democratic figures, many of them from the party's reform wing in Arkansas.

Newsman failed to note a prominent face from the Crank camp in attendance at the meetings.

Lesser indications came in connection with the party's state convention Thursday: No pictures of Muskie or presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey were displayed and the keynote address, which cited all of the Democratic candidates from Arkansas, did not mention the presidential ticket.

An aide to Crank said pictures of Humphrey and Muskie had been ordered, but failed to arrive in time.

Also at the convention came a change in the party loyalty oath opening the door to broad interpretation as to its application to the national ticket.

The new rule calls for candidates and voters in the primaries to openly express support of the party nominees, but it doesn't specify whether these are state nominees, national nominees, or both.

Violations Ignored

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

Municipal Judge Milton McLees dismissed Thursday curfew violation charges against 31 persons arrested in last month's racial disturbance.

The judge said there seemed to be no basis for assessing penalties. He praised police and a group of young attorneys who wrote a brief which said there was no state law which was applicable to curfew violations and there was no common law that could relate to the case.

In Little Rock, curfew violation charges against 10 persons were continued until next Thursday. Attorneys for six of the persons charged, said the curfew was invalid because Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller failed to file his curfew proclamation with Secretary of State Kelly Bryant until several days after he declared the curfew to be in effect.

lup poli."

Humphrey went from Boston to Sioux Falls, S. D., to receive the endorsement of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., a rival for the nomination and critic of the Vietnam war. The vice president move on to Springfield, Ill., today where he renewed a challenge to Nixon for a debate, either face to face or on television.

In other political developments: —Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the Democratic nominee for vice president, said one reason for his failure to draw big crowds is a lack of organization. "The other answer," he said, "is that not enough people know me yet, but they're going to know me yet."

—Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, the GOP choice for No. 2, said AFL-CIO President George Meany might be violating federal restrictions if personnel paid with union dues are used for political purposes in a voter education and registration drive.

—Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien called Nixon a "cosmetic candidate" and said, "Before this campaign is over, we'll have that make-up off. He cannot duck and evade the issues for seven more weeks."

—The Rev. Channing E. Phillips of Washington, D.C., who became the first Negro ever to have his name placed in nomination for president last month at the Democratic convention, threw his support behind Humphrey today.

—Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, forbidden by state law to succeed himself, said he might have his wife, Virginia, run for governor in 1970—a course followed successfully by Wallace in Alabama two years ago.

Violations Ignored

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

Municipal Judge Milton McLees dismissed Thursday curfew violation charges against 31 persons arrested in last month's racial disturbance.

The judge said there seemed to be no basis for assessing penalties. He praised police and a group of young attorneys who wrote a brief which said there was no state law which was applicable to curfew violations and there was no common law that could relate to the case.

In Little Rock, curfew violation charges against 10 persons were continued until next Thursday. Attorneys for six of the persons charged, said the curfew was invalid because Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller failed to file his curfew proclamation with Secretary of State Kelly Bryant until several days after he declared the curfew to be in effect.

Humphrey went from Boston to Sioux Falls, S. D., to receive the endorsement of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., a rival for the nomination and critic of the Vietnam war. The vice president move on to Springfield, Ill., today where he renewed a challenge to Nixon for a debate, either face to face or on television.

In other political developments: —Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the Democratic nominee for vice president, said one reason for his failure to draw big crowds is a lack of organization. "The other answer," he said, "is that not enough people know me yet, but they're going to know me yet."

—Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, the GOP choice for No. 2, said AFL-CIO President George Meany might be violating federal restrictions if personnel paid with union dues are used for political purposes in a voter education and registration drive.

—Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien called Nixon a "cosmetic candidate" and said, "Before this campaign is over, we'll have that make-up off. He cannot duck and evade the issues for seven more weeks."

—The Rev. Channing E. Phillips of Washington, D.C., who became the first Negro ever to have his name placed in nomination for president last month at the Democratic convention, threw his support behind Humphrey today.

—Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, forbidden by state law to succeed himself, said he might have his wife, Virginia, run for governor in 1970—a course followed successfully by Wallace in Alabama two years ago.

in creating greater understanding.

"A father has to realize that merely being a good provider isn't enough," he said. "He has to realize that giving his son expensive clothing and a new automobile doesn't necessarily prove he's a good parent."

"He must remind himself that teenagers today need and want emotional security as well as material things. They need to feel accepted, inspired, guided and encouraged. It isn't true that they resent discipline; they do resent negative scolding."

On the other hand, Dr. Caprio suggested, teenagers, too, have a responsibility in the creation of a more wholesome, less tense family atmosphere.

"They should show more respect to their parents and forgiveness. Parents are human, too. Just as a teenager appreciates compliments from his parents, parents like to get a compliment now and then from their teenagers."

What about hippies who leave home?

"Most of them are misfits, seeking revenge against their parents and society," he said. "They want a life of love without responsibility, but all they do is leap from the frying pan into the fire and ruin themselves."

"The answer is to make happier homes. You don't run away from a happy home."

Flying Nun Is a Bride

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sally

Fields, television's flying nun, is a bride.

Miss Fields, 21, and her childhood sweetheart, freelance writer Steve Craig, 23, announced Thursday that they were married in a wedding chapel at Las Vegas on Monday, then honeymooned three days in Jamaica.

It was the first marriage for both.

Miss Fields reports back to work Monday in "The Flying Nun."

Harold Lloyd Is Recovering

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Harold Lloyd, the old-time movie comedian, is up and around part of the time and "getting along very nicely" after surgery, his wife Mildred said Thursday.

Lloyd, 77, is recovering at home. His horridly rimmed glasses and bumbling, half-breath escapes delighted silent film audiences.

The surgery involving the urinary tract was performed 10 days ago at a Santa Monica hospital.

Mickey Feels McLain Let Him Hit It

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

What do you do for an encore after two consecutive no-hitters?

Well, as far as the St. Louis Cardinals and San Francisco Giants are concerned, not much — except, maybe, give the hitters a chance to unvent some pent up frustrations.

Windy Candlestick Park was the site of two straight no-hitters Tuesday and Wednesday by the Giants' Gaylord Perry and St. Louis' Ray Washburn.

But, it took only a matter of minutes Thursday to remove any chance for a third masterpiece and change the joint from a pitcher's paradise to a hitter's haven.

The two teams combined for no less than 23 hits in the Giants' 11-5 victory over the World Series-bound Cardinals.

Jim Hart cracked a grand slam homer and Bob Bonds hit a pair of homers and scored four runs to pace San Francisco's 15-hit attack that helped rookie Rich Robertson to his second straight victory.

Meanwhile, Detroit's Denny McLain won his 31st game, although one of his deliveries enabled Mickey Mantle to take over sole possession of third place on the all-time homer list, as Detroit's American League champs subdued the New York Yankees 6-2.

In other games on a limited schedule, Atlanta tripped Houston 4-1 and Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati 3-1 in the NL. The only other AL game scheduled — Washington at Cleveland — was canceled because of rain.

Mantle, whose 555th career homer in the eighth broke him out of a third-place tie with Jim Fox, admitted, "I got the feeling he (McLain) wanted me to hit it."

But McLain, a big grin on his face, refused to say whether he deliberately served up the go-phar ball, although he said Mantle was his idol and "still is."

The Tigers had a 6-1 lead at the time and after getting two strikes, Mantle motioned for McLain to give him a letter-high pitch.

McLain did, and the ball wound up in the upper right field stands. While Mantle trotted around the bases, McLain saluted him.

"It's got to be one of the best thrills I've had in baseball," said the 36-year-old Mantle, who trails only Babe Ruth, 714, and Willie Mays, 585.

McLain, who posted the Tigers' 12th straight complete game, scattered eight other hits in boosting his record to 31-5 to become the first pitcher to win that many since Lefty Grove turned the trick with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1931.

Just one more victory will make him the winningest pitcher in 52 years.

Norio Cash provided the Tigers all the ammunition they needed with a solo homer in the fourth and a two-run blast in the sixth, his 24th of the season.

Felipe Alou became the first man to pick up 200 hits this season with a two-run second-inning triple that helped the Braves past Houston. It also was Alou's 1,500th hit of his career.

Rookie pitcher Alan Foster drove in what proved to be the winning run with his first major league single to lead Los Angeles past Cincinnati.

Foster, who also picked up his first big league triumph, gave up only four hits and one unearned run in six innings before yielding to Jim Grant.

caused high scoring on the Quail Creek course, but the Twin Hills layout is partially protected by trees.

The Hills are both listed in the top 60 money winners for the year. Dave is 43rd with winnings of $31,439 while Mike is 55th with $25,488.

Bobkittens Continue Winning Ways

By RALPH ROUNTON

Star Sports Writer

Showing their pride by driving to the winning TD in the last minutes, the Hope Bobkittens ran their record to 2-0 by overcoming the DeQueen Leopard Clubs 13-7 before a good crowd at Hammons Stadium last night.

That last drive consumed five minutes and 58 yards, all on the ground. Halfback Tommy Miller scored the clincher on a six-yard reverse as the crowd went wild, and in another minute it was over, and the Kittens yelled with the rest of them.

Taking the opening kickoff, the Kittens drove down the field before being held on downs at the DeQueen 16 and only three minutes remaining in the first period. Then on second down the Cubs fumbled, and a timely recovery put Hope back in business 13 yards from a score. On first down it was Miller, who scored both TD's, flashing off-tackle for those 13 yards and the score. Wheelington ran the PAT, and with 0:57 left in the quarter it was 7-0.

Retaining that good field position, the Bobkittens kept themselves out of trouble until we had to punt with 3:30 left in the half. The first boot was a good 35-yarder with little return, but an illegal procedure call forced Hope to try it over. This time the snap went over the punter's head, and DeQueen recovered on the Hope seven.

Two plays took the pigskin to the three, where HB Gary Bell lunched into the end zone. Bell also ran the point after to even it up at 7-7 and 2:27 left in the half. In the last two minutes the Bobkittens drove 52 yards to the DeQueen 18, but were halted in the last ten seconds by a pass interception.

In the entire third segment neither team could muster up a first down, with the Cubs slightly ahead in field position, though both teams stayed in their own territory throughout.

Then the Kittens took over at their own 42 after a 20-yard punt return by Ray Wheelington, with six minutes to play. Repeated quick openers picked up a first down at the DeQueen 40, and those rushed picked up two straight first downs on third down plays, setting the ball on the 17 with 1:32 left.

Quickly fullback Norton fell to the 13, and Wheelington raced to a first down and goal at the six before he was dragged down. On the next play, quarterback Steve Harris did some fine faking before slipping it to Miller on the reverse, and Tommy only had to outrun one defender for the score. It was little matter that the PAT was missed, but Hope still had to hold on defense one more time.

They did just that, as the Leopard Cubs lost their first game at midfield when the final buzzer sounded. Coach Gaylord Solomon was very pleased at the "team's pride in the late going." We've talked a lot about that.

Also, Solomon gave praise to the defense, which gave up only 37 yards.

Players singled out for good work were Tim White, Rodney Burke, and David Powers, as well as the offensive line. Wheelington led all rushers with 88 yards on 17 carries, and Miller sashayed through the line 10 times for 51 yards. Next was Norton, who amassed 32 yards in eight attempts. Finally, Harris ran the ball twice for 16 yards.

So now the unbeaten Bobkittens look to their toughest opponent next week in Arkadelphia. The game will be on the road next Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. in Arkadelphia, and both squads will carry 2-0 marks into the contest.

Finally Got Hole-in-One

FALMOUTH, Maine (AP) — After more than 40 years of golf, Harold L. Sawyer of Portland finally saw his tee shot go into the cup.

The hole-in-one came on the 185-yard, 17th hole at the Portland Country Club Thursday.

Sawyer, who is 69, did the trick with a No. 1 wood.

Win Over DeQueen Must for Bobcats

By RALPH ROUNTON

Star Sports Writer

As far as the Hope Bobcats are concerned, tonight's battle with the DeQueen Leopards is a make-or-break game for the team's morale and winning spirit.

Not a game have the Bobcats won on their home turf since the 1965 season, and not a game have the Bobcats won on any turf since the 13-6 victory at DeQueen a year ago this evening. But the game tonight means more than just that.

For the second straight year, the Bobcats are being deeply considered in 4-AA pickings, and after last year they must prove themselves all over again. This bunch, however, is quite tired of losing, or at least they'd better be.

The Leopards are tougher than their record shows, and they would rather take on the Bobcats than nearly anybody else. They lost 37-6 last week to one of the best teams in Oklahoma, but their forces are enthusiastically behind new head coach Wayne Freppon, and there's nothing his Leopards would love more than to beat Hope.

Although every recognized source picked the Bobcats over DeQueen, it won't be quite that easy. You never push around a team with eight returning starters, and the Leopards have got some quality football players in their bag of tricks.

As for this writer's choice, it seemed only logical to pick the Bobcats after comparing relative strengths. It won't be a roll, though, because Hope has yet to gain confidence in the explosiveness of its offense. Depth in the line should be the telling factor, as the Cats will show their stuff, hopefully before a large friendly crowd.

Coach Gaylord Solomon will be in Smackover tonight, scouting the Buckaroos against 4-AA toughie Fairview before Hope journeys to that oil town next week. Poor Coach Solomon, because he is going to miss some action at Hope, that will wind up in a 14-6 advantage for the Bobcats.

Yerger Tigers Win Over Arkadelphia

By ARTHUR MAXWELL

BEN PERKINS

Yerger Sportswriters

The Yerger Tigers traveled to Arkadelphia last night to play Peake High, and came out the victors 19 to 7.

The Tigers wasted no time in getting on the scoreboard. Quarterback David Block pitched back to halfback Horace Johnson on an off tackle and he ran 10 yards for a touchdown. The PAT was good making the score Yerger 7 Peake 0.

The rest of the first quarter was dominated by the defense, which was led by linebacker David Benton who made 12 tackles.

Late in the second quarter the Tigers struck again. Quarterback David Block handed off to fullback Artis Martin who ramblined 60 yards breaking tackles for a score. The PAT was no good and the score was Yerger 13 Peake 0.

It was a defensive battle then throughout the rest of the second quarter. At the end of the first half the score was Yerger 13 Peake 0.

The third quarter was totally a defensive game. Neither team scored.

The fourth quarter started out to be a defensive quarter, but Peake blocked a Yerger punt, and ran it in for a score. The PAT was good and the score was Yerger 13 Peake 7.

Peake's score got the Tigers momentum rolling. They scored on a twenty yard aerial by quarterback David Block to end Thomas Garland. The PAT was no good and score was Yerger 19 Peake 7. That's the way the game ended.

The leading rusher for the Tigers was Jerry Johnson with 3 receptions for 51 yards.

The high scorer was Thomas Garland with 7 points. Quarterback David Block hit on 6 of 18 passes for 34 per cent. The Tigers' total offense was 399 yards as compared to 56 by Peake.

The Tigers were led on defense by David Benton, Robert Baker, Calvin Shaw, Richard Carter, Ronald Moses, Christopher Hindman, Ira Isley, Frank Prater, Louis Sharp, Lee Davis and Jesse Henry. They were helped also by 4 Peake fumbles.

The Tigers next foe will be Scott High Friday night September 27. So come to Scott, Arkansas to see the Tigers in action.

defeat in five starts.

Rounding out the probable Futurity field are C.V. Whitney's True North, Christopher T. Cheney's Cleada's Pride, Herbert Allen's Distinctive, Walter Kitchen's Power Ruler and Charles W. Engelhard's Mr. Leader. Engelhard's Shakazu could either replace Mr. Leader or join him in the line-up.

With seven starters, the 6 1/2-length race would gross $144,320, with $89,258 to the winner.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Advocate, beaten a neck by Dr. Fager in the United Nations Handicap on the turf, will try the Atlantic City grass again—and this time it will be the inaugural running of the 1 1/2-mile, $40,000-added Sunrise Handicap.

The Cowboys held the Porkers without a touchdown last year for the first time since 1944 and carved out a 7-6 decision. OSU returns 25 lettermen, including their offensive backfield—quarterback Ronnie Johnson, fullback Jack Reynolds and halfbacks Larry Gosney and Terry Brown. Ironically it was Reynolds, a Little Rock youngster, who scored OSU's touchdown last year.

For the Porkers, it will make the long awaited unveiling of the pro-type offense.

Last year's opening defeat started the Porkers on the way to their worse season (4-6-1) since Frank Broyles' first Arkansas team went 4-6 in 1958. The loss, however, could aid the Razorbacks' effort this year.

They know what can happen. Arkansas 14, OSU 7.

Tie Group Fit to Be Tied

NEW YORK (AP) — The Men's Tie Foundation Inc. is fit to be tied over a photograph of Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau playfully wrapping a tie around his neck in garrote fashion after accepting it as a gift from the National Press Club in Ottawa.

Myron H. Ackerman, foundation president, mailed Trudeau another gift Wednesday and enclosed a note pointing out that National Tie Week opens next Monday and saying, tongue-in-cheek, "When the choke's on you, the joke's on us."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

MY READERS ANSWER THE MAIL

Dear Helen: Your answer to "Patient Turtle" ("Come out of your shell and snap") interested me greatly because I too am married to a roaring bully.

I don't like being ordered about and criticized constantly, but if I speak up with even one word, it enrages him further, and what effect will this have on the children?

It seems to me if one parent is in a perpetual frenzy it is the obligation of the other parent to try and smooth things over. I'm the "quietener." Our young children are well-behaved and sociable. Would they remain happy if they heard their mother snapping back and aggravating their father? We'd have nothing but bedlam! — DOORMAT

Dear Doormat: Question: will your children REMAIN well-adjusted, brought up by a doormat and a tyrant? If you don't want them growing into your molds, you'd better break them, one way or another.

"Peace at any cost" is too high a price to pay! — H

Dear Helen: Is there such a thing as a "harmless flirtation?" This girl at my husband's office leaves him romantic moments. He brings them home and shows them to me. He says there's nothing to it, but I think he is flattered. We've been married 18 years, and he has never been unfaithful. Should I make an issue of this? — UNSURE

Dear Un: If you make a small good-natured issue, you'll make your husband a happy man! Let him know you think he is quite capable of inspiring "romantic moments," and you feel so-o-o sorry for the poor little girl who doesn't have a chance with your attractive, exciting, and FAITHFUL husband.

After 18 years of marriage, a man needs his ego boosted. Play up! — H

Dear Helen: I get so weary of reading these letters from men saying they dislike and disrespect women who are "push-overs."

Never mind that story about

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Q—One of my friends has a boy with birth defects and another has one who is mentally retarded. They both say it is because their husbands insisted on intercourse during the first half of their pregnancies. My doctor says intercourse during pregnancy has nothing to do with the development of the fetus but that it may cause a miscarriage. What do you think?

A—Birth defects and retardation may be caused by a woman being exposed to X rays, contracting German measles or taking various drugs such as quinine, sulfas, iodides, anticoagulants and cortisone or other hormones in the first three months of her pregnancy. Most obstetricians permit intercourse in moderation in the first half of pregnancy.

Q—I have just discovered that I am two months pregnant. When I was about two weeks pregnant I had a chest X ray, not knowing then that I was pregnant. Could this cause any birth defects in my baby?

A—Although to be on the safe side pregnant women are advised not to have any X-ray films made except for vital reasons, a properly screened X ray of the chest would not hit the uterus and would not injure the baby.

Q—What kind of vitamin deficiency would cause a miscarriage?

A—Vitamin E deficiency in lower animals may cause failure to reproduce but no such effect has ever been reported in human beings, chiefly because it is nearly impossible to eliminate all sources of this vitamin from your diet.

Q—What harm could smallpox vaccination have on a pregnancy?

A—The cowpox virus used men being "different". They are safer—that's all: they don't risk pregnancy.

The real reason men hate these women is that she is as knowledgeable as they are, and like them can shop and compare. She is in fact, a sexual equal, rather than an inferior. Since about 90 percent of the male group are dullards in this department, they naturally prefer a virgin who doesn't know the difference and will accept his lacks as her faults.

While men talk about not marrying a "used" model, the fact is, she probably wouldn't marry one of this kind if he asked her, unless she just wanted a meal ticket.

A REAL man will accept a woman as an equal, and be happy he has one who isn't afraid of life, love, and pursuit. — ONE WHO ISN'T

Dear Helen: Too many girls still haven't joined the 20th century. I'm a man who asks about this before I make a date, if they're "sweet and innocent" they don't get to go out with me. — AGAINST FRIGID WOMEN

Dear AFW: I'll bet you spend a lot of time going out — alone!

Good rubber bridge players seek overtakes when they can afford the luxury. Duplicate players go after them as if their life depends on it. Their duplicate success does.

South's three no-trump contract was rather standard in match point play. North made his move when he bid three clubs and gave up his suits when South rebid to three no-trump.

Four spades and five clubs make but no-trump counts more and is safer.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and studied a long time before leading back his partner's suit. It was correct to study. A heart return would have been far better but East hoped that South did not have a sure diamond stopper.

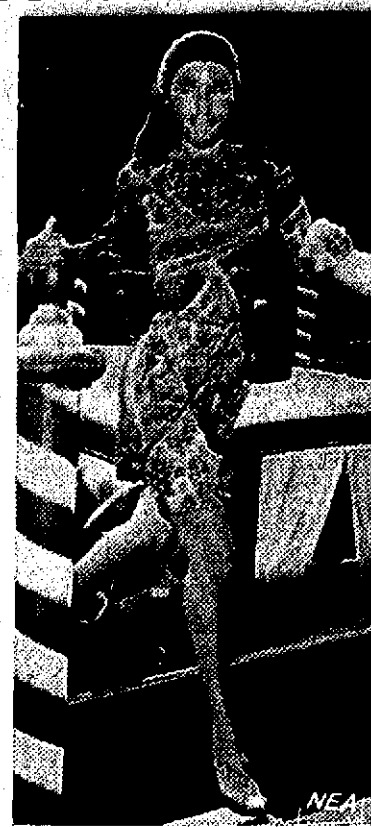

West won the second trick with his king of diamonds and cleared the suit with a third to vaccinate against smallpox may cross the placenta and infect the fetus. When this happens, the fetus may die but this very rarely happens as shown by the fact that in a combined series of 7,500 women vaccinated during pregnancy, none of their babies showed any signs of smallpox or any birth defects attributable to this disease.

Q—Toward the end of my recent pregnancy, I had what my doctor called toxemia. What is it? How dangerous is it? How can I prevent a recurrence in future pregnancies?

A—This is a form of eclampsia. It is manifested by scanty urine, headache, swelling of the feet and blurred vision. Because if not recognized and treated promptly it can be very dangerous to both mother and baby, all doctors like to see women at frequent intervals during pregnancy. The only prevention is vigilance, a diet low in protein, drugs to lower the blood pressure, if it is high, and other drugs as needed.

South ran off his five clubs and West had to make four discards. He saw that he was going to be caught in a heart-spade squeeze and did the best he could by discarding the four and six of hearts first and his last two diamonds afterwards.

South cashed dummy's three top spades while West followed suit. This left West with nine tricks in and the ace-queen of hearts left in his hand. He knew that West was holding just one heart and East two. West had dropped the two little hearts without a care in the world. Was he smart enough to unguard his king?

Probably not, thought South. Then South decided that four no-trump would be a good score in any event because only four spades could be made. He played his ace of hearts to insure four odd and was rewarded by an extra trick bonus when the king fell.

A—Bid six spades only. Your partner's one king may be in any one of three suits and in any event he is allowed to go on to seven if he wishes to do so.

fundamental belief in GOD

Dreamed of by millions, searched for by many, discovered by a few:
Established, built, maintained and governed by a Fundamental Belief in God;
That is America — these United States, our home, if you please, it is you and me. How else could the heritage we hold come to be? A system? Not so! But surely it is a dedicated, consecrated way of life as set forth in the Sermon on the Mount.

And through the grief and misery suffered at Valley Forge, shines the same light which has illuminated men's minds since time began.

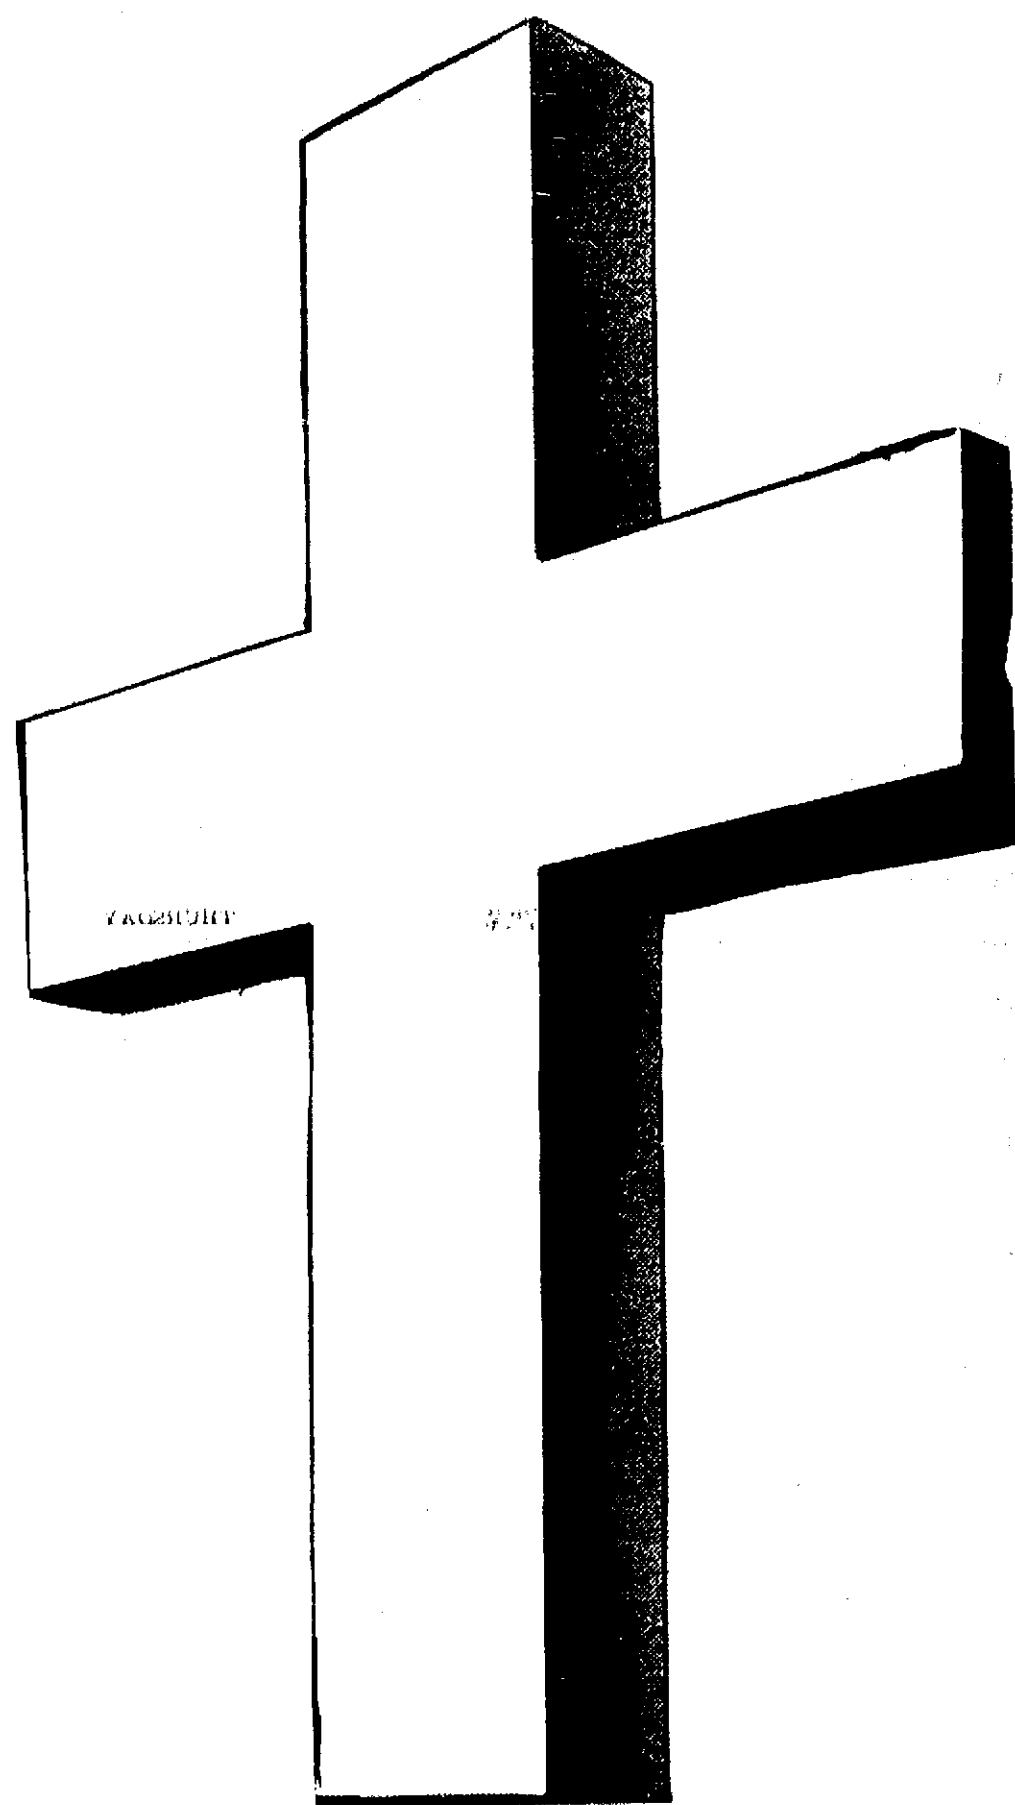

That same light, the light of Faith found in the holy word of God, is now lighting and showing the way, the way of truth to us as a nation and as individuals.

And just so long as we, each of us each day, rededicate our lives to a Fundamental Belief in God can we endure.

Then, let us worship in the true Faith of Our Fathers in the sanctuary of our choosing every week. A-Men.

Vikings Will Give Green Bay a Test

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay's chances of rolling to a fourth straight National Football League title should be easier to rate after Sunday's meeting with the Minnesota Vikings who roughed up Atlanta 47-7.

The Packers had no serious trouble with the battered Philadelphia Eagles in their opener, but the Vikings revitalized attack offers a challenge.

Although the two clubs split in 1967, the pick here is the favored Packers, but in a close game.

With a complete 13-game program on tap in the NFL and AFL, here's the way it looks from here. All games are Sunday unless otherwise indicated.

NFL

Green Bay 28, Minnesota 20—Bart Starr is on the beam and both Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski are healthy. The Vikings unveiled a new threat in Clint Jones, who rode the bench in '67, and Joe Kapp looked like a winner against the Falcons. Could be an upset, but Packer defense should hold the fort.

Baltimore 30, Atlanta 7—John Unitas was throwing during the week but Earl Morrall is capable of shredding that Falcon defense. Atlanta threw a scare into the Colts last fall but folded the second time around. Another rough day for Randy Johnson.

Chicago 28, Detroit 14—Two clubs trying to bounce back from opening game disasters. Gale Sayers usually has big day against Lions who still are shaken by that 59-13 beating in Dallas. However, Sayers will be playing with a mini back injury. Bears won't have to worry about Sonny Jurgensen this week but must watch out for Earl McCulloch.

Dallas 24, Cleveland 17—Don't think Browns have forgotten that 59-13 rout in the playoff game last December. Cowboys rolled for 542 yards against Lions, with Don Meredith playing only first half. This may be the year for Dallas to get all the way. That front four got Greg Landry five times last week. Beware, Frank Ryan.

New York 30, Philadelphia 21—Giants made mistakes but still beat Steelers handily, showing new spark in Ronnie Blye. Eagles still without Norm Snead. Fran Tarkenton might run at Eagles, opening them up for bombs to Homer Jones.

Los Angeles 31, Pittsburgh 10—The Rams' defense ruined Jim Hart and the Cards and could do the same for Kent Nix. Roman Gabriel should find Steelers' deep defense easier to pierce than Cards'. Clubs haven't met in regular season since 1964.

San Francisco 21, St. Louis 20—Toughest game on the list. 49ers still busy installing new system under Dick Nolan. Cards must bounce back from tough game Monday night. If John Brodie can avoid those interceptions, 49ers should squeak home in first meeting since '64.

Washington 27, New Orleans 17—Bombs away. Jurgensen takes to the air again. Pat Richter was the main target last week. This time it might be Charley Taylor's turn. Billy Kilmer was intercepted three times last week as Saints offense looked sad.

AFL

San Diego 24, Houston 7 (Saturday night)—Chargers have rested since Sept. 6 opener with Cincinnati. Oilers with George Webster, Hoyle Granger and Pete Beathard can be rough. They split last year in two tight games.

Oakland 31, Miami 10 (Saturday night)—Raiders manhandled Buffalo so badly, 48-6, that Joe Collier was fired. Bob Griese erratic in Dolphins' opening defeat by Houston. Oakland should be able to call the score.

Cincinnati 14, Buffalo 7—How can an expansion club be favored over an old established club? Paul Brown's men knocked off Denver last week after losing to San Diego. Buffalo has been edged by Boston and bombed by Oakland. Anything can happen.

Kansas City 35, Denver 7—No trouble for the Chiefs, still smarting from 20-19 loss to Jets. Kansas City won both games last year and holds 15-1 edge in series.

New York 28, Boston 14—Patriots always make things rough for Joe Namath who did excellent job against Chiefs last week. Game will be played in Birmingham, Ala., although it is Boston home game. Alabama is Namath country. Mike Holovak had two weeks to get ready.

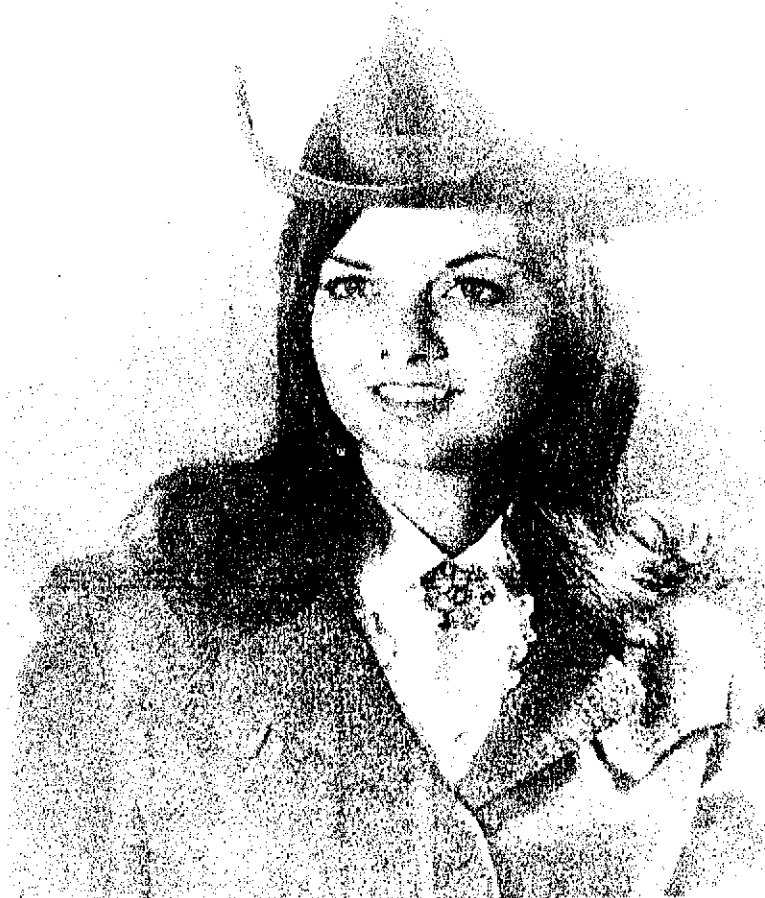

London had the world's first subway. It dates from 1863.

Queen Contestants

JANICE BREWER

An Arkadelphia girl, Janice Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brewer will also seek to be the Third District Livestock Show Rodeo Queen.

MARY ROSE NARENS

Mary Rose Narens, daughter of Mrs. James A. Narens of Texarkana, is another entry in the Third District Livestock Show Queen contest to be held here next week.

MYRA LYNN NIX

Myra Lynn Nix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey F. Nix of Buckner Rt. 1, has entered the contest for Third District Livestock Show next week. She is sponsored by the Lafayette County Silver Spur riding club.

Withdrawal by 1969 Says Vietnam Head

BA TRI, Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu declared today South Vietnamese military forces will take on enough additional combat operations to permit allied troops to begin phased withdrawals toward the end of 1969.

"I am convinced that during 1969 ARVN will be able to assume more mobile operational responsibilities than expected," Thieu said. ARVN stands for the Army of the Republic of Vietnam.

The president noted, however, that South Vietnamese forces could not assume all allied responsibilities but added he had given instructions for the government forces to take more responsibilities for mobile operations which should allow the start of allied withdrawals.

Thieu expressed his views in a talk with newsmen while inspecting pacification programs in Kien Hoa Province.

Five Miami Starters Are Injured

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
American Football League schedule makers sure know how to hurt a guy when he's hurt.

No less than five of Miami's starters are laid up with various injuries, which ordinarily would put the anemic Dolphins in a critical state.

But the men who make up the schedule have added a cruel twist—they've paired Miami against awesome Oakland Saturday night.

The Raiders opened their bid for another AFL championship last weekend with a 48-6 humiliation of Buffalo. Miami, meanwhile, dropped its opener to Houston 24-10.

And, to add just a bit more pain, the Raiders are expected to be at full strength for the match-up or mis-match—in the Orange Bowl.

Houston, 1-1, plays at San Diego, 1-0, in Saturday night's only other AFL game. Sunday, Buffalo, 0-2, visits Cincinnati, 1-1; Denver, 0-1 goes to Kansas City, 1-1, and New York, 1-0, takes on Boston, 1-0, at Birmingham, Ala.

In the National League, eight games are scheduled Sunday—Baltimore, 1-0, at Atlanta, 0-1; Chicago, 0-1, at Detroit, 0-1; Cleveland, 1-0, at Dallas, 1-0; Minnesota, 1-0, vs. Green Bay, 1-0, at Milwaukee; New York, 1-0, at Philadelphia, 0-1; Pittsburgh, 0-1 at Los Angeles, 1-0; St. Louis, 0-1, at San Francisco, 0-1, and Washington, 1-0, at New Orleans, 0-1.

Oakland combined a sizzling offense with a wicked defense in the rout of Buffalo that resulted in Harvey Johnson replacing Joe Collier as Bills' coach.

Swift Warren Wells, a second-year receiver, was more than impressive, while Larry Todd, a replacement running back, accounted for two touchdowns and George Atkinson, who raced 86 yards for one marker, set a record with punt return yardage totaling 205 yards in five runbacks.

Miami, which earlier lost receiver Jack Clancy because of a knee injury and defensive back Dick Westmoreland to a dislocated shoulder, had three more join the sideline club this week: Running back Stan Mitchell, leading ball carrier against Houston with 68 yards in 15 carries, underwent an emergency appendectomy Tuesday; defensive back Bob Petrella has a fractured thumb, and defensive tackle Ray Jacobs aggravated a leg injury.

Another running back, Jack Harper, may not be able to play because of a pinched nerve in his neck.

San Diego, which opened with a 29-13 victory over fledgling Cincinnati, returns to action after a two-week rest. The Chargers are led by John Hadl, who passed for 325 yards against the Bengals, including a pair of TD tosses to Willie Frazier.

Houston's Pete Beathard will be striving for better accuracy this week. Miami swiped three of his tosses, although he passed for one marker to rookie Mac Halk, who now has three touchdown catches in four receptions.

In other news Thursday, the Baltimore Colts said although sore-armed Johnny Unitas has been throwing the ball this week, it's doubtful he will start against the Falcons.

However, Detroit quarterback Bill Munson, who missed the Lions' opener because of a strained chest muscle, is expected to be ready by Sunday and a minor back injury suffered by Chicago's Gale Sayers earlier this week shouldn't keep him out of action.

The Los Angeles Rams acquired center Frank Marchlewski from Atlanta in exchange for a high draft choice. The 6-foot-2, 240-pound Marchlewski was the Rams No. 5 draft choice in 1965, but didn't start and went to the Falcons in the 1966 expansion draft.

The Denver Broncos placed starting fullback Ron Lamb and defensive safety Tom Oberg on the injury waiver list. Lamb suffered a neck injury in practice this week, while Oberg hurt his ankle in a game against Cincinnati last week.

What the politicians say new legislation will do about business, and what business actually does, are two different things.

The politicians told us a 10-per-cent increase in federal income taxes would curb inflation by slowing down business and halting constantly rising prices. Which is precisely what is not happening.

To your editor it appeared that, taxes being a fundamental part of the cost of doing business, regardless what happened to sales volume the general level of prices would rise. Which is precisely what is happening.

Increases have been posted on basic steel products, on 1969-model automobiles — and, only last Monday, there was an indication that the price of newsprint (coarse white paper on which all newspapers are printed) would be boosted $5 a ton the first of the year.

Wall Street Journal reported that International Paper Co., world's largest paper-maker, operating in both Canada and the United States, had notified its customers the price of newsprint would be raised $5 effective Jan. 1. This is not final until the other major Canadian paper-makers are heard from — a matter I shall explain.

All newspapers buy newsprint on long-term contract. The contract is to guarantee the supply — not the price. The Star is guaranteed 90 tons or more a year by Southland Paper Mills, Inc., of Lufkin, Texas (we are using 94 tons or more) — but the price is pegged to the prevailing price charged for Canadian paper. This usually is defined as the price fixed by any two of Canada's three largest producers. International is one, of course. If another one goes along with International's announcement then the price for newsprint delivered in the American Southwest after Jan. 1 will rise from present $143 a ton to $148.

If it sounds to my readers like a lot of felonious price-fixing I should remind them that newspaper owners feel the same way — but in the business of making paper an open market with no pricing agreements would be even worse. There would be times when no newsprint would be available at any price. I know, because it happened to me — just once.

I was one of the guys who didn't believe in long-term paper contracts. I was buying a car of newsprint first in one place and then in another. As we came out of the 1929-33 depression I was doing business with a one-mill outfit in Oslo, Norway. One morning I got a telegram from the New York importer telling me our Oslo mill had just burned to the ground. Pretty soon I found myself waving a bank certified check for a carload of newsprint — and not a pound to be bought anywhere in Canada or the U.S.A. Mill production had been cut down during the depression, and every pound had been allocated to contract-holders.

A publisher friend bailed me out. He ordered an extra car on his own contract and resold it to the Star at just what it cost him. I won't ever forget that. And to prevent such a crisis ever happening again I made a charter contract with our Lufkin mill when it opened for business in February 1940.

Our current 10-year contract with Lufkin is a renewal executed in 1962, at which time the Hope delivered price of newsprint was $135 a ton. Hope's 1962 carrier delivered subscription price was 30¢ a week. Several years ago the price of newsprint went to $140 a ton, and subscriptions were advanced to their present level, 35¢ a week. Since then there has been a $3 hike in paper, putting it at $143 a ton — with the new threat of a $148 price effective Jan. 1. What we'll do about subscription prices depends on what actually happens Jan. 1 and what other newspapers do about it in this inflationary day.

The real point of this article is to show the difference between political thinking and actual business performance. Politicians say they're going to hold prices down and then inevitably do the very thing that is calculated to

3rd District Stock Show Opens Monday

The 24th annual Third District Livestock Show gets underway here Monday with a big parade through downtown Hope starting at 4 p.m. A rodeo parade will follow on Thursday, marking the opening of the western phase of the show.

Attractions and events throughout the week include a Youth Talent contest in the Coliseum Monday night and the winner will represent the 17 county district in the state show the following week. This is a free event.

Tuesday will be highlighted by the Fair Queen contest and this too is free to the public.

The annual quarterhorse show is the main event for Wednesday with the finals starting in the Coliseum at 8 p.m. Trophies and prizes will be awarded.

The final three days are highlighted by the I.R.A. approved rodeo. This year the producer is Gerald Smith of the Wing Ranch Rodeo Co. of Bogota, Texas. In addition a Rodeo Queen's contest will be held.

The midway will remain open all week as will exhibit halls and livestock barns. Some $5,000 will be awarded.

Coast Guard Course Sunday at Millwood

Officers of Flotilla 15-A of the U.S.C.G. Auxiliary will meet Sunday afternoon, September 22, 1968, at 1:30 p.m. at the Millwood Dam Resident office to give basic qualification courses for new members. Any person interested in becoming a member can attend the meeting or contact the Resident Office at Millwood.

The U.S.C.G. Auxiliary is a voluntary national organization dedicated to the promotion of safety in the maintenance, navigation and operation of small craft. Its primary function is to augment the regular U.S. Coast Guard in the fields of public education, search and rescue operations, patrolling water events and courtesy examination of owners boats for required equipment.

Hempstead HD Council Places Second

Hempstead County Extension Homemakers Council placed second on their Educational Exhibit at the Four States Fair in Texarkana, according to Mrs. Ivan Bright, exhibit committee chairman. Others on the committee are Mrs. Howard Underwood, Mrs. J. E. Adams and Mrs. Eddie Waldon.

The Hempstead County exhibit is titled "Why the Tired Look?" and depicts reasons that laundry results as a yellowed, gray and worn look. The Extension Homemakers Council offers a laundry booklet of recommendations as a prescription for the tired look.

The exhibit will be on display at the Third District Livestock Show in Hope, September 23-28.

Other exhibit winners at the Four States Fair are:

Miller County first, Little River County, third and Lafayette, Honorable Mention.

Thinks Happier Homes Would Be a Cure for Sick American Society

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — America is suffering from a national nervous breakdown, says a noted psychiatrist, "but it isn't malignant."

"It isn't like a cancer of society — it is more like a disease that has a crisis and runs its course," said Dr. Frank S. Caprio, Washington, D.C., specialist. "Things will get better."

"The root cause of our society's sickness today is the widening gap between parents and teenagers. Our enemies have found our Achilles heel. They are trying to exploit it by fomenting racial tensions and campus unrest in order to establish a negative image of American life."

"The cure is for parents, teenagers and society itself to assume a greater responsibility in avoiding harmful things."

Dr. Caprio, 62, a short, jolly faced man who looks like a friendly teddy bear with a mustache, is no breast-beating Cassandra. In a just-published book, "Parents and Teenagers," he presents in detail constructive ways in which he thinks the generation gap can be lessened. The book, his 25th, is based on more than three decades of professional experience and is co-authored by his 22-year-old son, Frank B. Caprio, who is pursuing a doctoral degree in social psychology.

"As a matter of fact, it was my son's idea," said Dr. Caprio.

Democrats Agree to Drop Voting Age

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Democratic State Convention today adopted a platform endorsing a constitutional convention and lowering of the voting age from 21 years to 18 years.

The platform also contains a progressive education plank calling for free public kindergartens and free continuing education for adults. It also calls for national convention delegates to be elected directly by the people.

"Public education is the most important public function and should be accorded first priority relative to available funds," the platform said.

It also calls for free textbooks through the high school level and endorses continuing salary increases for teachers until it reaches the national average.

The platform also endorses tenure for teachers.

The document said the Democratic party "having observed with sadness the record of the last two years in which our state has been governed by a political party dominated and controlled by one man" pledges to expand its base of representation so that it encompasses all people.

"Responsible fiscal policies will be returned to the state,"

House Probably Will Fatten Up the Foreign Aid Bill Senate Cut

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An foreign-aid appropriation bill has been tossed by the House to the Senate, which may fatten it up some.

It passed the House Thursday in record time and with a record 45 per cent cut from funds requested by President Johnson to finance the program for the current fiscal year.

Opponents of the $1.3-billion House-approved cut made only a token fight to increase the funds. They gave up after losing their initial effort by overwhelming voice vote.

Privately they predicted that the Senate would beef up the measure, particularly the allotments for development loans.

Approved only Thursday morning by the Appropriations Committee, the bill's total was the smallest since the aid program was launched in 1948 as the Marshall Plan.

Normally the House could not have considered the bill so swiftly since it has a rule requiring money bills to lie over for three days before being voted on.

It waived that rule before passing the bill by a roll-call vote of 173 to 139. Voting for it were 120 Democrats and 53 Republicans. Against it were 55 Democrats and 84 Republicans.

Deep cuts in funds requested by the President were in supporting assistance allotments, reduced from $595 million to $365 million; in development loans for nations outside South America, from $765 million to $265 million, and in loans and grants for South American nations, from $625 million to $270 million.

Direct military assistance allotments were trimmed from $420 million to $375 million.

The bill was the last of the annual money measures Congress must consider before adjourning. The Appropriations Committee estimated that when all the measures have been disposed of, Congress will have cut about $12 billion from total appropriation requests and will have effected actual spending cuts of about $4 billion during the present year.

This would leave about $2 billion for the White House to shave from proposed expenditures to meet the $8-billion mandatory cut in federal spending that Congress wrote into the income tax surcharge bill.

Congress demanded the cuts in exchange for passing President Johnson's proposal to raise income taxes by 10 per cent.

Officials Feel Enemy Not Capable of Big Offense Like Last

By FRED HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some top U.S. military leaders claim the enemy has lost the ability to mount the kind of offensive that jolted U.S. and South Vietnamese forces last winter.

They say that the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong apparently have decided to use sustained low level attacks "in hopes of wearing us out."

These high-ranking officers, speaking in private, contend that the enemy launched his expected "third wave" offensive about Aug. 18, but could not sustain the effort.

Publicly U.S. civilian and military officials have avoided giving firm opinions on whether the North Vietnamese and VC had attempted a third offensive.

This caution stems from criticism leveled at some U.S. leaders in the past for voicing optimism which later proved unfounded.

Senior American military leaders attribute what they claim is enemy failure to heavy casualties and very much improved allied intelligence.

One general said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong suffered 70,000 or more killed in last winter's Tet offensive, including many of their seasoned troop leaders and veteran fighters.

Improved allied intelligence was credited by the senior U.S. officers with enabling American and South Vietnamese units to short circuit planned enemy attacks.

Great credit also is given to Air Force B52 and tactical fighter bombers for clobbering enemy forces before they can mount effective large scale assaults.

Intelligence was rated one of the allied fallouts which permitted the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to shock American and South Vietnamese troops at the outset of the Tet offensive last January.

A follow-up enemy offensive in May penetrated a limited area of Saigon, struck at some other South Vietnamese centers and was characterized by rocket attacks on populated communities.

But it was much less severe than the Tet offensive, and American military men regard the August enemy effort as even less effective.

"We are clearly on top of them militarily," one senior general said.

"They have lost the ability to mount the kind of offensive they threw at us in January. There is only one option left to them — sustained low level attacks to inflict casualties and destruction."

Some top U.S. military leaders claim the enemy has lost the ability to mount the kind of offensive that jolted U.S. and South Vietnamese forces last winter.

Allied forces beat back two strong attacks by more than 500 men northwest of Saigon, killing at least 51.

Humphrey Lashes Hard Core Hecklers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon and George Wallace raised funds Thursday while Hubert H. Humphrey met the raised voices of antiwar hecklers whom he called people of hate, not peace.

Humphrey, besieged by hundreds of shouting protestors, at a Boston street corner rally, said afterwards, "It is time to blow the whistle on those who would deny the American people the right to reason together."

The vice president said the hard core hecklers believed in nothing and added, "Take a look at them, filled with hate and bitterness. Look at their faces filled with violence."

Nixon faced a friendly audience of fellow Republicans over a closed-circuit television network linking 20 fund-raising dinners that brought in $5 million and told his backers, "You've made a good bet."

He predicted victory in November and said, "You're going to win this bet, and you're going to win it big."

Wallace raised more than $250,000 for his third-party effort with a luncheon dinner and rally at Montgomery, Ala., where he told a crowd of 15,000, "We're going to show them that we represent the mainstream of thought in America."

The antiwar demonstrators chanted criticism at both Humphrey and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who endorsed the Democratic candidate.

Kennedy, whose brother, Robert, was assassinated as he sought the nomination, said, "I think if there is one lesson of 1968, it is that there is no room for anarchy, that there is no room for violence, and there is no solution to difficult and compelling problems by shouting and screaming."

Humphrey told the hecklers, "Your actions are going to disgust the American people and harm the cause of peace."

Nixon, in a speech at Springfield, Mo., promised to include dissenting opinions in a Cabinet that would have Democratic and independent members as well as Republicans if he is elected president.

"I don't want a government of yes men," he said. "I don't believe in government by the Gal-
